ABOUT THE COURSE

Lone working is a term that applies to anybody who is working alone, with no supervision, for any length of time. This can range from roles such as a gas engineer visiting a domestic property to a warehouse operative retrieving goods from racking.

This Awareness of Lone Working eLearning course takes you through topics such as what lone working is, the risks of lone working, risk assessments and controls and the responsibilities of employers and employees.

AREAS COVERED

The modules included in this course include:

- Who are lone workers?
- What is lone working?
- Working from home
- The risks and hazards of lone working
- Lone working risk assessment
- Lone worker safety
- Employee and employer responsibilities
- Lone worker policy
- Lone working checklist

ASSESSMENT AND CERTIFICATION

At the end of the course there is a multiple-choice test. Candidates will receive a Highfield e-learning completion certificate, which is downloadable upon successfully finishing the course.
